

AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES / MINOR

Minor Credit Hours: 21

The African American Studies minor includes courses from a variety of disciplines, such as sociology, history, literature, philosophy, psychology, communications, political science, and social work. The minor provides a framework for understanding African-American history and culture and contemporary triumphs and struggles of African Americans. For further information about African American Studies at Lewis University, consult the Program Director of African American Studies.

Requirements

Minor Requirements

Code	Title	Hours
Required Courses
HIST 33400	African-American History I	3
or HIST 33500	African-American History II
SOCI 29000	Diversity and Social Justice	3
SOCI 38900	Capstone in African American Studies	3
Electives
At least two courses (6 credit hours) must be selected which offer full coverage of African American heritage and issues. Two additional courses (6 credit hours) may be selected which offer partial coverage of African American heritage and issues. Please refer to the online University Course Schedule for the specific offerings each semester.		12
Total Hours		21

Nine hours of this minor (including 2 upper-division courses and one additional course) may not apply to any other minor or a major offered at Lewis University.